CCTV SURVEILLANCE - CCTV Camera Security Systems are quickly becoming an important aspect in Human Life.

CCTV ANALOG - Though most of our attention these days is focused on the transition to IP video technology, it's important to note that analog CCTV solutions can still be highly effective for many surveillance applications, especially those on a budget. With traditional CCTV, the video signal is processed and transmitted in analog format for local viewing from one central monitoring location. But that doesn't mean you can't use analog cameras in an IP-based surveillance environment. Using IP video encoders and other equipment such as digital video recorders and hybrid DVRs makes it possible to leverage your existing analog cameras while migrating into the world of digital surveillance.

CCTV IP - IP video technology provides flexible, scalable, and cost-effective surveillance solutions suitable for a wide range of industries and applications. With an IP-based video surveillance setup, users can monitor and record video remotely using an IP network as the system's backbone. IP video installations can be deployed in any environment, and offer many benefits previously unavailable with analog CCTV systems.

ACCESS CONTROL - Any system or method which automatically controls the passage of people and vehicles into or out of an area or structure
